

I attract the things that I desire

I attract the things that I desire.

There is power in declaring the life that I see for myself. I attract the things that I desire by speaking them into being.

My confidence is based on my faith that anything I will into my life is bound to come. It is important to believe that I am worthy of goodness. I live the kind of life that produces blessings each day. The more I give is the more that I receive.

Exercising kindness to others is easy for me. All of humanity is equal, so I treat others in the same way that I treat myself.

I know that giving of my time and possessions leads to others looking out for me. Having caring people in my life is something special. I am blessed with their love because that is what I declare as important for my life.

Growth opportunities are also important to me. When searching for a new job, I apply to openings that have the potential to challenge me. I pull them in.

It is in taking on the unknown that I blossom into a greater version of myself. I move from strength to strength with each new obstacle that I choose to take on.

Today, I am happy for the life that I have because it is one that I constantly ask the universe for. It is energizing to feel my existence mold its shape and form into reality. The power of choice is mine and I choose a life that is fulfilling.

Self-Reflection Questions:

1. Where do I see myself five years from now?
2. Which are the most important aspects of my life?
3. Which experiences am I most excited about having in the future?