You have 22 blue socks and 24 black socks in a drawer.

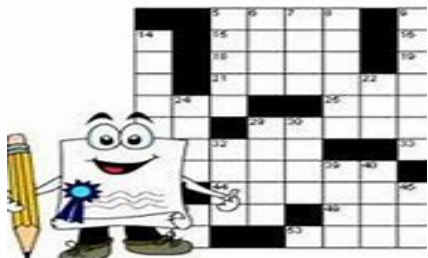

If you reach into the drawer without looking at the socks, what is the smallest number of socks you must take from the drawer to be assured of getting one pair of blue socks?

CryptoQuip

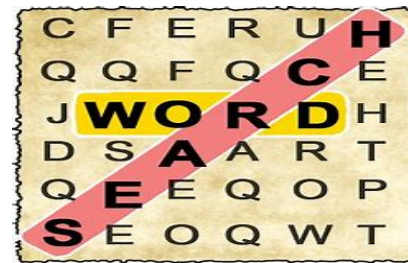

This is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

ENTERTAINMENT

WJZZ DOES IT ALL!

Rodger Penzabene is Leading the Charge

Detroit Jazz Radio Entertainment

Rodger Penzabene (pictured right) started the new WJZZ back in 2019. The current WJZZ is a cloud based radio station, and it's a hit! Penzabene is a true businessman because he knows a good thing when he has one. That's why he has expanded his brand to include live jazz concerts and weekly television shows. The next WJZZ Legacy Jazz Series event will be held on Thursday February 15th at Aretha's Jazz Cafe' inside of the Music Hall located at 350 Madison in Downtown Detroit. Tickets are only $30. For more information go to our website at www.themonthlystandard.news and you will find a video (see page 9) detailing the event and a link to WJZZ radio. (wjzsdetroitradio.com) WJZZ Cool TV is live streamed on Facebook, X, YouTube, and Twitch. Below are a few of the shows on WJZZ Cool TV. (Most of the show titles are in the background). Mr. Penzabene is on his way to becoming a media titan!

Opening Night at One Mike, Detroit's Newest Comedy Club, Is a Success!

Mike Epps was featured at the opening of One Mike. His ownership stake (if any) is unclear. We do know Rev. Horace Sheffield III is part owner of the club. The theme is Mike Epps all day, everyday, and that's a winning concept. The bar on site (NOW OPEN) is called "Day Day's" after Epps character in the movie "Friday." Tommy Hearn was at the show & The Whispers performed.

BEFORE and AFTER

2024

Take a look at the corner of Woodward and Gratiot sixty-eight years after the original photograph was taken. Both pictures were taken looking south on Woodward. The one constant in both pictures is the iconic Kern's clock. Back in 1956 the clock was perched on the side of Kern's Department store approximately 25 feet above street level. Kern's was demolished in 1966. Thankfully, the clock still exists. Notice how there was a clear view of the Guardian building back in 1956. Not one building on the west side of Woodward survived Detroit's urban renewal projects of the 1960's. The entire block was razed to build a parking garage. Do you want to participate in our Before and After series? Just send us an old picture via email from any site in metropolitan Detroit to tms@servicestarnetwork.com. If the photo is suitable we will contact you and take the "after" picture for you. Thanks for reading!

"I Have A Dream..."

(Speech in its entirety)-Copyright 1963, Martin Luther King

I am happy to join with you today in what will go down in history as the greatest demonstration for freedom in the history of our nation.

Five score years ago, a great American, in whose symbolic shadow we stand today, signed the Emancipation Proclamation. This momentous decree came as a great beacon light of hope to millions of Negro slaves who had been seared in the flames of withering injustice. It came as a joyous daybreak to end the long night of their captivity.

But one hundred years later, the Negro still is not free. One hundred years later, the life of the Negro is still sadly crippled by the manacles of segregation and the chains of discrimination. One hundred years later, the Negro lives on a lonely island of poverty in the midst of a vast ocean of material prosperity. One hundred years later, the Negro is still languishing in the corners of American society and finds himself an exile in his own land. So we have come here today to dramatize a shameful condition.

In a sense we have come to our nation's capital to cash a check. When the architects of our republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to which every American was to fall heir. This note was a promise that all men, yes, black men as well as white men, would be guaranteed the unalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Mississippi cannot vote and a Negro in New York believes he has nothing for which to vote. No, no, we are not satisfied, and we will not be satisfied until justice rolls down like waters and righteousness like a mighty stream.

I am not unmindful that some of you have come here out of great trials and tribulations. Some of you have come fresh from narrow jail cells. Some of you have come from areas where your quest for freedom left you battered by the storms of persecution and staggered by the winds of police brutality. You have been the veterans of creative suffering. Continue to work with the faith that unearned suffering is redemptive.

Go back to Mississippi, go back to Alabama, go back to South Carolina, go back to Georgia, go back to Louisiana, go back to the slums and ghettos of our northern cities, knowing that somehow this situation can and will be changed. Let us not wallow in the valley of despair.

I say to you today, my friends, so even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the heat of injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.

It is obvious today that America has defaulted on this promissory note insofar as her citizens of color are concerned. Instead of honoring this sacred obligation, America has given the Negro people a bad check, a check which has come back marked "insufficient funds." But we refuse to believe that the bank of justice is bankrupt. We refuse to believe that there are insufficient funds in the great vaults of opportunity of this nation. So we have come to cash this check -- a check that will give us upon demand the riches of freedom and the security of justice. We have also come to this hallowed spot to remind America of the fierce urgency of now. This is no time to engage in the luxury of cooling off or to take the tranquilizing drug of gradualism. Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy. Now is the time to rise from the dark and desolate valley of segregation to the sunlit path of racial justice. Now is the time to lift our nation from the quick sands of racial injustice to the solid rock of brotherhood. Now is the time to make justice a reality for all of God's children.

It would be fatal for the nation to overlook the urgency of the moment. This sweltering summer of the Negro's legitimate discontent will not pass until there is an invigorating autumn of freedom and equality. Nineteen sixty-three is not an end, but a beginning. Those who hope that the Negro needed to blow off steam and will now be content will have a rude awakening if the nation returns to business as usual. There will be neither rest nor tranquility in America until the Negro is granted his citizenship rights. The whirlwinds of revolt will continue to shake the foundations of our nation until the bright day of justice emerges.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that one day, down in Alabama, with its vicious racists, with its governor having his lips dripping with the words of interposition and nullification; one day right there in Alabama, little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plain, and the crooked places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

This is our hope. This is the faith that I go back to the South with. With this faith we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood. With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

But there is something that I must say to my people who stand on the warm threshold which leads into the palace of justice. In the process of gaining our rightful place we must not be guilty of wrongful deeds. Let us not seek to satisfy our thirst for freedom by drinking from the cup of bitterness and hatred.

We must forever conduct our struggle on the high plane of dignity and discipline. We must not allow our creative protest to degenerate into physical violence. Again and again we must rise to the majestic heights of meeting physical force with soul force. The marvelous new militancy which has engulfed the Negro community must not lead us to a distrust of all white people, for many of our white brothers, as evidenced by their presence here today, have come to realize that their destiny is tied up with our destiny. They have come to realize that their freedom is inextricably bound to our freedom. We cannot walk alone.

As we walk, we must make the pledge that we shall always march ahead. We cannot turn back. There are those who are asking the devotees of civil rights, "When will you be satisfied?" We can never be satisfied as long as the Negro is the victim of the unspeakable horrors of police brutality. We can never be satisfied, as long as our bodies, heavy with the fatigue of travel, cannot gain lodging in the motels of the highways and the hotels of the cities. We cannot be satisfied as long as the Negro's basic mobility is from a smaller ghetto to a larger one. We can never be satisfied as long as our children are stripped of their selfhood and robbed of their dignity by signs stating "For Whites Only". We cannot be satisfied as long as a Negro in

This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with a new meaning, "My country, 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing. Land where my fathers died, land of the pilgrim's pride, from every mountainside, let freedom ring."

And if America is to be a great nation this must become true. So let freedom ring from the prodigious hilltops of New Hampshire. Let freedom ring from the mighty mountains of New York. Let freedom ring from the heightening Alleghenies of Pennsylvania!

Let freedom ring from the snowcapped Rockies of Colorado!

Let freedom ring from the curvaceous slopes of California!

But not only that; let freedom ring from Stone Mountain of Georgia!

Let freedom ring from Lookout Mountain of Tennessee!

Let freedom ring from every hill and molehill of Mississippi. From every mountainside, let freedom ring.

And when this happens, when we allow freedom to ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, "Free at last! free at last! thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

COVER STORY

Wayne County Treasurer Sabree is Working for YOU!

“Treat every taxpayer like they’re your own family.”

The quote above are the first words uttered by Treasurer Sabree during his interview with The Monthly Standard. (TMS) I asked him to expand on that statement. He said: “To start, a lot of it has to do with our hardworking staff that believes in my vision for helping people and going the extra mile to do what we can, not just what the law says. That’s why we have to do more to treat people like they’re in your own family. That way you’ll have a different attitude and understand that taxpayers are important ALL the time. If you treat it like that, it’s natural. I think that’s why we’ve reduced foreclosures.” TMS confirmed that fact. When Treasurer Sabree took office in 2016 foreclosures numbered 13,684. Last year (2023) the number was drastically reduced, foreclosures numbered only 2,745.

Volunteerism

It’s easy to see why Treasurer Sabree is a people person. His altruist heart was surely ingrained in him by his father Bill Humphries. Eric’s dad was a Boy Scout and rose to the elite level known as the Order of the Arrow. In the late 1950’s & early 60’s Humphries held the rare position of being a black executive in the Boy Scouts. (Sabree has a different last name because he converted to Islam and changed his name in 1976). Historic figures in African American history, such as: Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Congressman Charles Rangel, and Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall volunteered to assist his father. By the late-sixties Sabree’s father continued to be a trailblazer. Bill Humphries was the first Black member of Detroit’s Kiwanis Club #1. (For those who do not know, the Kiwanis Club is dedicated to improving the world one child and one community at a time). Mr. Humphries also became Detroit’s first Black sportscaster at WGPR-TV 62. His father was undoubtedly a positive influence on Eric. As an adult Eric R. Sabree volunteered to minister and teach prisoners. For 27 years Sabree visited prisons in Kansas, New Jersey, and Michigan. To this very day, he still keeps in touch with a prisoner he has known since the 1970’s. Like his father, Sabree volunteered at the Kiwanis Club. Eric actually became President of Kiwanis Club #1. Today, Sabree is still very active in assisting children. He knows that helping kids now assists in empowering them in adulthood later.

Accessible to the people

Treasurer Sabree states: People stop me in public wherever I’m at. Whether it’s at the grocery store, gas station, or a high school football or basketball game. People will say: “You helped me out a few years ago. Now I am all caught up and everything is fine. I just want to say I appreciate it because you helped me from losing my home.” Every now and then I’ll get a different reaction. One time I was speaking at a church and as I was being introduced somebody yelled out: “He took my home!” Sometimes you’re going to get some of that. I feel like if I do what I am supposed to do it will help more people than it will hurt them. I have to abide by the state law. It takes effort to do what you have to do and administer equally according to the law. I am responsible to not only the people who can’t pay, I am responsible to the people who paid already. I am responsible to ALL the taxpayers in the county. The people that pay on time encompass 90% of taxpayers. Those 90% have a right to know that I am doing my job to enforce the law against those who do not pay. Otherwise, why would anybody pay? You have to have a balance. You have to have some empathy and figure out how to help people.

Things that might surprise you about Treasurer Sabree

In his youth Sabree was a national champion weightlifter. He is also a master plumber and an attorney. In August 2024 he will be named President of the Michigan Association of County Treasurers. Sabree is happily married to his wife Badriyyah. They have three grown children and five grandchildren.

RESTAURANTS

Niki's Pizza is A Greektown Institution

PAY THEM A VISIT

Niki's Pizza in Downtown Detroit's Greektown neighborhood is one of the best restaurants in the city. For over 40 years residents and tourists alike have been lead by their noses to the fragrant scents of food spiced just right emanating from the building at 735 Beaubien street. Once there, the people are not disappointed, because the food tastes as good as it smells. It doesn't matter what you order. It could be their classic Pizza. Or you could try a Steak or Chicken Wrap. Try some Shish-Kabob or a Chicken Kebob. Their salads are supremely great. Their Greek Salad is the best in Greektown! Their Chicken Salad is tasty too. Their Gyro Wrap is simply mouth watering.

Guess who inspired everything on the menu? NIKI. Yes, there really was a real Niki. Her name was Nikoletta "Niki" Kefallinos. (1926-2014) She hailed from one of the most beautiful places on Earth. Zakynthos Island, Greece. She was visiting Detroit in 1981 when her son Dennis Kefallinos opened a restaurant. He named his new eatery Niki's after his beloved mother. After the restaurant opened, Niki decided to stay in Detroit to ensure its success. Niki worked tirelessly, sometimes, from open to close. She cooked, washed dishes, and did everything else in between.

Nikoletta's hard work paid off because Niki's Pizza is a success. It's doubled in size since 1981. It's because of their menu. It's varied, but not too large. It's just big enough to try everything on it. Believe me when I tell you, they cook everything perfectly. Try their fish sandwich, half pound burger, or vegetarian sandwich and you'll see what I mean. Here are more dishes you must try at Niki's. Dolmades. (Grape Leaves), Octopus, Opa Saganaki, and Flaming Greek Sausage. Niki's also has a wide array of wine and liquor selections to satisfy you as well. It's the perfect place to go on date night. When you visit Niki's take a moment to pay homage to the matriarch of the restaurant by reading the plaque on the wall near the front door. The staff will appreciate it and your patronage too.

Predicting The Next Catastrophe

It will be much bigger than COVID-19

by Dana Redd

NOTICE
SERVICE

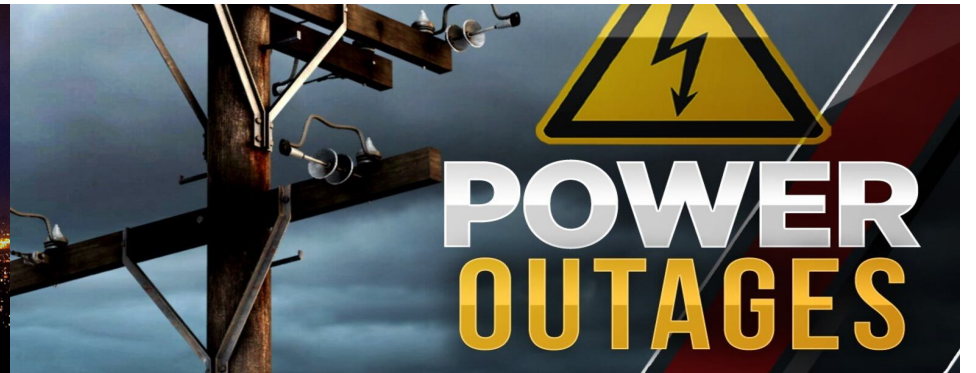

What could possibly be worse than COVID-19? The disconnection of the world-wide internet will be. It will flip this planet upside down and leave billions of people helpless. I believe it's been in the planning stages for some time now.

One of the first things you must have (if you don't already) is a series of maps (and study them), because there will be no GPS available and you may not even be able to navigate your way home, or anywhere else for that matter. Most people seem to depend on those friendly voices for directions.

Next, have a little cash put aside due to the fact that your credit and debit cards may not function. Plus, all those online purchases with Amazon and other retailers will be impossible. You will physically have to go to the store (with cash). What about paying your bills? What about calling someone on your cell phone? I've already written down all my important phone numbers and put them in a book – and I've kept my landline phone in use and I know what friends who also have landlines.

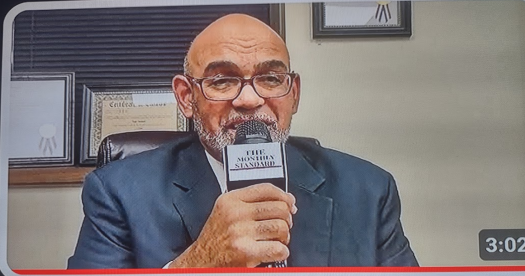

Some of the things we take for granted, like general information, would not be available. There will be no Siri or Alexa or that 'Google Lady' to turn to. So make sure you know where the nearest library is located (when I was a kid, my mother would make us walk 12 blocks to the library to find out the simplest things).

I think most people are so dependent on the internet/wifi that they will no doubt lose their damn minds when the disconnection happens. I don't believe it's going to affect the older generation as much as the younger folks, but it will definitely be an overall catastrophic situation. Oh yeah, and if you're able to grow your own food, please do so. Food may be the most important thing we'll need. The things I mentioned are only a fraction of inconveniences that will occur. I'm in the process of preparing myself. Are you? Don't say I didn't warn you.

MOVIE OF THE MONTH

"The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman"

Many people believe Jane Pittman was a genuine person. She wasn't. American author Ernest J. Gaines created the fictional character for his 1971 novel, The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman. The book was a success. Three years later the book was made into a Made for TV movie starring Cicely Tyson. The film was a bigger success than the book! It won 9 Emmy Awards! Most notable was the Emmy Tyson won for Best Lead Actress in a Drama. This movie is great because it provides a history lesson from the Civil War era of the 1860's to the Civil Rights era of the 1960's. Go to www.themonthlystandard.news to watch for FREE.
