About

I have been in the Banking industry for over 20 years, primarily in a loan officer role. These roles range from being a commercial lender for 19 years and then venturing away from traditional banking into the residential lending arena. I am so glad that I made this move and have been able to become the lender that I wanted to be. I enjoy helping people purchase their first home, upgrade their current home due to a growing family, or helping a couple downsize. I am a VA Loan Specialist and am very well trained in all residential loan programs.
