WHAT SHOULD YOU PLAY?!

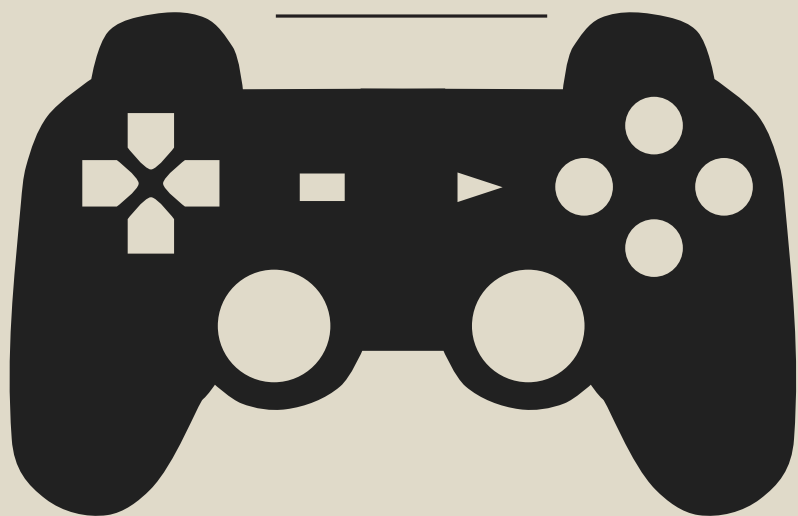

Monster Hunter World: A Monstrous Review (Ice Born DLC not included)

Monster Hunter World is an open world adventure game where your mission is to research and subjugate monsters. It has tons of unique mechanics and weapon crafting system. Its realistic style and open world gameplay really makes you try your hardest so if you're not in focus then a monster might just eat you.

Monster world has a ton of unique monsters and creatures that you have to hunt and research. For example the Rathalos and Rathian. The Rathalos is the cover monster, being in all monster hunter games including spin-offs. The monsters you hunt are totally optional to the player and the game has tons of events to play with special quests.

Defeating monsters gives big rewards, defeating new monsters tend to be stronger the stronger the monster the better the armor and weapons. You can fight stronger monsters by completing the quest part of the main storyline. Once you've completed the quest invader in the waste you unlock high rank and low rank. High rank has different monsters and stronger monsters.

Quest... the most important part of Monster Hunter games some would say. Quest gives extraordinary rewards: money, parts, exp, so much. Quest are the main supremis of the game as taking a quest going on an expedition or an investigation whatever it may be you will always go on one. Gathering resources or mining minerals, ore and much more it all happens with quest, investigations and expedition.

What is it?!

Terraria is my favorite game. I finally bought it after pirating it for two years. It is fun, The reason is that there is so SO much to do. When you first play it might seem confusing at first. THEN if you read the items you should be fine. There is a NPC called the guide you spawn with.

If you have just ONE material in the slot. [or click the item on xbox] it is not really hard. People refer to Terraria as “2D Minecraft”. The reason why Terraria is not as popular as Minecraft is because Minecraft is not LOCKED behind progression. Terraria is because you HAVE to beat certain bosses to get certain items. Then here is an example : you HAVE to defeat Wall Of flesh otherwise known as WOF, if you want to progress.

Game Modes

The reason why you NEED to defeat him is because after you defeat him you reach hard mode. Now since we are talking about getting into hard mode here are some terms here are a few. HARD MODE OR HM means you have defeated WOF, PRE HARD MODE OR PHM means you have not defeated WOF. so now let's get into the bosses in PHM there are bosses. Now in HM there are 25 hardmode bosses. There is customizing you can change the world size or can change the difficulty. There are secret [seeds]/how the world generations. You can change the seed to whatever you want. Finally the special seed are:

1. World, makes the world generation amplified.
2. Not the Bees, makes the world ALL jungle.
3. For The Worthy, bumps the difficulty by one.
4. Celebrationmk10, spawn on the beach with a lot of NPCs
5. The Constant, hunger is now introduced.
6. No traps, spawns a lot more traps.
7. Don't Dig Up, you spawn.
8. Zenith seed/Get fixed boi, it is every secret seed combined.

Who are the Bosses?

Now that you have read all of that let me explain how to beat ALL the bosses. King slime you make a big arena. Then you just circle him. I'd recommend the ranger class for him. Skipping to the skeleton you NEED to circle him and try to predict him. I would recommend melee class. Then here is WOF you make a LONG platform. Then you try to beat him. Good luck.

Now we will interview someone else that has beaten the game; The gameplay style he loves it because it “2D.” He also loves the the bosses and mechanics, he thinks king slime is the best boss. Then on the topic of mechanics. King slime has mechanic he will jump REALLY high if he can't get you or he will also teleport to you.
