Tengen Uzui!

Tengen Uzui

Who is he?!

Tengen Uzui is a male side character in the anime Demon Slayer who is also known as both the God of Festivities and Lord Tengen. Tengen is the sound Hashira. A Hashira is a demon slayer who has the highest ranking and they train the lower ranked demon slayers like Tanjiro. We first see Tengen Uzui in season 1 episode 22 where he is introduced, and his last appearance in the first Infinity Castle movie for about 3-5 minutes. There are only 2 more movies of the Infinity Castle coming out soon. Tengen has his own “arc” called the Entertainment District where he is looking for three other characters and fighting the upper moons Gyutaro and Daki (they are both Upper Moon 6). Tengen has long white hair which he usually ties up in a ponytail, and his uniform is a dark navy like blue shirt with golden buttons (the Hashira have golden buttons and the lower ran demon slayers have grey buttons) and his pants are the same color. My favorite episode he's in is season 3 episode 1 because he's so funny in that episode.

Hinatsuru Uzui

Makio Uzui

Who are they?!

Other characters in Demon Slayer than he interacts with are Suma, Makio, and Hinatsuru. They don't have breathing styles in the anime but they use daggers and other weapons. Hinatsuru has both dagger-like swords and a shield which has needles filled with poison to paralyze the demons she shoots at, but they may also get shot at nearby people like Tengen. Tengen is a Shinobi which means he isn't infected by the poison or takes a long time for the poison to take effect.
