Top 10 List!!

This is a list of my top 10 favorite monsters from Monster Hunter across all games. This list will be based on monsters I've fought in terms of looks, abilities, and attack style, which includes difficulty.

2. Gaismagorm

Gaismagorm is not a monster I have actually fought which is a reason a lot of monsters aren't on here because I can't judge them if I haven't fought them. However, this guy has always amazed me and I even got the game just to fight him. I haven't got there yet but he looks amazing in design with extravagant fight from videos I've seen with not just his base form and a unique icon for him.

Oltura

1. Oltura

The final boss of Monster Hunter Stories 2 the only one of its kind, an elder dragon of grand power that eats monsters all over the world huge with a moth like appearance it was awakened and born to destroy the known world of Monster Hunter Stories. Oltura is really unique and I think even though it's a super annoying fight in the game, with enough time it can be beaten. The lore for it is really cool it being here to destroy the world in all its design

It's wicked being a weird worm thing then becoming a moth in a transformation. Overall, I do wish that it could be captured in the game and ridden but I guess with the new release of Stories 3 they most definitely won't add anything to Stories 2 However, there's a small chance they might add Oltura to Stories 3 if they do it be after the main story and an event most likely.

3. Rathalos

I had to put the Rathalos in here; he's like the Pikachu of Monster Hunter or Coca Cola classic he's in every game mainline and others. He has different form across the games, he's not super hard in the games but gains exponential strength in some of them with his different forms, and he's got an awesome design that everyone remembers.

4. Pets

I didn't want to say one specific pet because there's a whole bunch some cooler than others but they're awesome and I thought they deserved a spot on the top 10 so I put them here for cuteness and how helpful they are.

6. Hell Blade Glavenous

Hell Blade Glavenous is a version of regular Glavenous from Monster Hunter Stories 2. Hell Blade is much more powerful, not being able to fight him till after you beat the main story. He has his own side quest along with some other really powerful monsters, but I have not fought them yet so they are not here. After the end game he is mostly on the weaker side after level 50 so he can be decent to beat for money or lvl's so I like him. He also looks really cool with such a uniqueness to him and his abilities.

5. Zoh Shia

Zoh Shia is a much newer monster being the final boss before the high rank quest in Monster Hunter Wilds. The newest game, but not for long, with the newest game coming out soon. Zoh Shia offers a sleek design before its second form becomes a tar like molten monstrosity. I enjoy the fight with him but it is quite a long one because of the large health pool. As an added plus, the Zoh Shia armor set is one of the coolest I've seen.

7. Gore Magala

Gore Magala is a very strange and unique monster one way it is unique is the fact that it spreads a special disease throughout monsters making them frenzied in this state they pretty much go insane and fight everything. Gore Malaga also has a sick design being sleek and dark before entering his other form where he delivers explosive attacks and attacks faster.

8. Black Diablos

9. Congalala

The best pink monkey boy in the world, this stinker is one of the ape-like species in Monster Hunter. He has been in the most recent of the games. He is a stinky monkey who, through the fight with him, munches on mushrooms for powerups like he's Mario. I also love monkeys and he's my favorite.

The Black Diablos is a variation of the regular Diablos species but with a new skin tone with many appearances across. He's in almost as many as the Rathalos, the monster in every mainline game. The Black Diablos, although not the exact same as the regular Diablos, often get into turf wars with each other in some games such as Monster Hunter World. He even made an appearance in the Monster Hunter movie. I would have put him higher, but I wanted to get some other monsters in here so that would mix up my list.

10. Seregios

Seregios has been in a multitude of Monster Hunter games. He has some pretty annoying attacks but has a really cool design that shows an outrageous second form that makes the scales covering his body burst out. The only reason I really put him here, though, is his unique design of tons of monsters that have spikes, but he shows them with his own attacks that few other monsters replicate.

What's Next?!

With the latest games, they will add a bunch of new monsters to the game and not bring back a lot of favorite monsters from older games for a multitude of reasons and, because of this, getting an older game can be really fun to see older design game play forgotten monsters such as Gore Magala's adult from the Elder Dragon Shagaru Magala. On Dec 16th, we will see a monster from an older game getting added to Monster Hunter Wilds. This could mean that in the future there will be more of the older monster after the main story of the game making it way more worth it. This will definitely lead to a change in this list but for now this will do for a good listing of monsters.
